

Cut Away of Fremont Pit House — Just like you prepare and eat meals inside your home, the Fremont Indians cooked their food inside, too. The opening in the roof not only provided a way to get in and out of the pit house, but also let smoke escape from the fires they built.

There is life-size cut away of a Fremont pit house at the College of Eastern Utah Prehistoric Museum in Price, Utah and also at the Fremont Indian State Park Visitor's Center, near Richfield, Utah.
